When I was in Class VI in Delhi my father got transferred to New York. So, our whole family shifted to New York. Our passports and visas were ready hence we left within a week's time. I was very happy because it was my first visit abroad. We boarded the plane from Delhi airport and reached New York after 18 hours of flight.

I had heard that New York is a city of skyscrapers. Our own house in Delhi was single storied but in Kensington while going towards our apartment. I saw dozens of buildings with more than 50 storeys. My father told us that our apartment was also in one of the skyscrapers and a lift would take us to the 40th floor within seconds.

The streets of New York were very busy and I was told that they are called avenues. The greater part of New York was on an Island and there were seven avenues running from one end to the other.

The best thing which I liked was the warmth and the behaviour of the people, whom I met, even strangers welcomed us with a smile and wished. I hardly saw any frowning face and no one broke the queue.

Test - 15 Read the following passage and answer the questions.

The Great Pyramid of Giza was built for the Fourth Dynasty Pharaoh Khufu (or Cheops) and it was completed around 2560 BCE. It is the oldest monument on the list of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World. It is part of a complex of 3 large pyramids in the Giza Necropolis located in modern Cairo, Egypt. The Great Pyramid is the largest of the three pyramids, and it is part of its own smaller complex that also contains three small pyramids which were built for Khufu's wives.

It took approximately 20 years to complete and several theories are debated by scholars as to how it was built and by whom. Some theories point to slave labour. But it seems more likely that Egyptians themselves lent their efforts.

Some evidence and theories suggest that 20,000 workers over the course of 20 years built it and they were even paid to do so. The pyramid was constructed out of stone blocks, each weighing at least 2 tons. There are theories suggesting that multiple men together moved each block over a ramp that encircled the structure as it rose.

There are ideas that aliens built the pyramids. However, the construction of pyramid was completed, it is a marvelous feat, and should be respected, especially as it is standing today with relatively minor damage.

The Great Pyramid, when completed, was faced in the gleaming white Tura limestone which must have presented quite beautiful sight in the Egyptian desert. It was 481 feet high. Not only that, it covers 13.1 acres. It is estimated that 2.3 million stone blocks were used weighing between 2 and 15 tons each. The pyramid itself is filled with internal passages and chambers that would have housed the Pharaoh's granite stone coffin. This would have included a great deal of precious metals and stones, food products, and hand-carved furnishings.

There is no wonder why the Great Pyramid of Giza was on the list of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World.
